The X800 Flashlight

SHADOWHAWK

YOU are the sole surviving Naval Commander of the Free Space Confederation. The tyrannical Galactic Empire has overrun the once proud Confederation . . . all but your small outpost on what was once the leading industrial planet in free space.

YOU have the last free space machine of destruction, the prime in fighting craft, the SHADOW HAWK ONE!

The game begins with the basic design of SHADOW HAWK ONE, which is an even match for an Imperial Corvette. As you raid the incoming merchant ships (laden with Raw Materials), you can increase the design and capabilities of the SHADOW HAWK ONE at your hidden outpost.

However, as you prey on the merchant shipping, the Empire will build not only Interceptors and Corvettes, but will build Lancers, Destroyers, and even the fearsome Cruisers to search out and destroy the last remaining starship of its enemy.

The graphics for SHADOW HAWK ONE are hi-resolution, 3-dimensional, with 3-axis rotation!

Emphasis is placed upon the player's decision on what to build from captured enemy Raw Materials. You can build Beacons with which to scan sectors of the solar system for signs of Imperial ships. You can improve the shielding, structural strength, beam damage strength, torpedo damage strength, or repair damage to any of several different types of battle damage.

The player buys and places Beacons to detect Imperial ships in a given sector (there are over 150 sectors). This gives an added challenge of never knowing initially exactly where the enemy is, and once discovering "something" is in the sector, not knowing what it is until you engage in battle!

Once combat begins, it is your dexterity, skill, and planning that bring the sweet taste of victory (and the needed Raw Materials for improvements) or the tragic defeat of the last of the free starships: SHADOW HAWK ONE!

Whether you are sufficiently fortunate and skilled to attain the rank of STAR LORD, or fail to the relentless search of the Galactic Empire, SHADOW HAWK ONE will give you challenge after challenge of spacefaring adventure!!
